Perhaps the most interesting feature the Stock Market this morning was the strength of Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the weakness of Atchison, common, both these movements being contrary to the news and rumors regarding the properties. The unexpected undoubtedly hap movements were concerned. London se over heavy buying orders in Atchiso common stock and clds of 3 to 1 wer common stock and cids of 2 to I wer given a that market that the division would be increased to 4 per cent per an num at the meeting of the company to day. On this side the same confidence i the increase was expressed. The stoc opened weak and continued so during the entire morning, getting two points of more below the best price of yesterday On the other hand, while the Brookly Rapid Transit annual report was out the morning showing only about 2 per centaried on the stock, this security advanced steadily well about 58. The general market was not important, but it tendency was downward if in any direction, the railway list showing the great est disposition to sag off.

There has been heavy selling of Brook-lyn Rapid Transit by insiders, and the lisposition now seems to be to buy back here holdings, or at least a part of them.

ELLIS GLENN GOES FREE.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 9.—The hibited. The application was made to Judge Jackson, of the United States Court, who today handed down his opinon releasing Miss Glenn from custody nd from further proceedings under th keeper, hostler, and at several other occupations.

She maintained that she had been mis taken for Eibert Glenn, a twin brother, who was in appearance exactly like her
and for whom she entered the Illinois penitentiary.

Ellis Glenn's trial began in Parkersburg on July 8 last and continued until July 33, when the jury disagreed. Many sensational developments occurred. On August 7 she entered sult for $50,000 damages alleged false arrest. Jude Richardson was the officer who brought her from Hilsboro, Ill., to Parkersburg. She charged that she was kidnapped and taken from Hillshor without legal authority while habeas corpus proceedings were in progress; was beaten, kicked, dragged through the streets, and otherwise brutally treated.

The report first of all explains the system of "savings," under which both officers and men may either take up the whole or a portion of their ration in kind, or they may receive a monetary payment in lieu of each article. The money thus obtained is expended by the messes in the purchase of various articles from the catteens, shore, etc.

There are three general principles of victualing—(1) that the fleet shall at any moment be prepared to take the sea fully victualed for any emergency, and that reserves shall be available at the depots; (2) that in time of war no "savings" will be paid; and (3) that supplies of fresh meat, fresh vegetables, and soft bread will cease to be available in time of war.

Therefore the reserves maintained in order that the navy may be in a constant state of readiness for war are necessarily very largely in excess of the requirements in time of peace. These conditions limited the range of the ration very considerably. The want of keeping quantities of butter, cheese, etc., was an insuperable bar to their adoption.

It had been said that the systams the systam did additional staff required should be provided, as all available space is wanted for other purposes.

The following additions to the present rations are named: Fresh meat; condensed milk, three-fourths ounce per diem; condensed milk, three-fourth ounce per diem; con

Further, it is recomended that no dependence should be placed on canteens, bumboats, etc.; that the ration should be sufficient in itself, to satisfy all reasonable requirements, and that it should be one which can be immediately supplied either in peace or war.

It is estimated that the total additional cost if the recommendations are approved will amount to £187.600 per annum.

They recommend that there shall be five meals a day instead of three, as at present. The meals suggested are: Cocoa on turning out, about 5 a. m.; breakfast at "stand easy," about 8 a. m.; dinner at noon; tea about 4:15, and supper about

The recommendations made by Admiral Rice's committee were eagerly perused by the bluejackets at Portsmouth yesterday.
